

To My Friends and Neighbors,

August 29, 2014

I have known many people who have known someone who has had a fire from a dirty dryer vent. Just today I had a meeting with Scott and he had a family member whose house had burned down due to a clogged dryer vent.

This last time I had gone 5 years since it was cleaned last. Keep in mind, it's only my wife and myself who live here. I had noticed the clothes were taking a long time to dry so I knew it was getting time. I hired a company called Dryer Vent Specialists and More, LLC. Their phone number is: 561-926-7140. Their technician arrived on time and proceeded to clean out the dryer vent that goes up to the roof. While watching him, it didn't take long to realize that my vent was clogged all the way from the dryer to the roof. He vacuumed more lint out of that pipe than I have ever seen at one time. Additionally, once he was done with that part, he also cleaned out the lint from inside the vent inside the dryer. I'm not talking just cleaning the lint filter, he cleaned the entire vent from where the lint filter is all the way to where it leaves the dryer.

He did a great job and I have no doubt if I had not of done this there would have been a fire at some point in the near future. Their price was "very inexpensive" and he did a great job.

I would recommend this company and have full faith you will be happy with their service. I am going to start having them service my dryer vent more often so as to eliminate the chance of burning down the house. My wife loves it when I do the wash but she may get a little upset if I burn down the house!
